

SOLANO COUNTY CHILD WELFARE SERVICES

Solano County wants to hear from youth about how we're doing!

Solano County, and all of the counties in California, are doing Case Reviews. This means that we are carefully looking at the work we did, and talking to clients, to see if there are things we did that were great, and if there were things that could be done better.

To do that, we need to hear from lots of people, but it is really important to hear from youth and the people who take care of them.

A social worker will be contacting your parent or foster parent to arrange a time to meet with you soon. Your participation is completely voluntary, and any information you provide is confidential. This means it won't be provided to your care provider or your caseworker.

If you have questions, you can call the number below, or ask when we meet.
