Common Core 3.0 Delivery Sequence

Introduction

This document outlines the required and recommended sequencing for Common Core 3.0. During development of the Common Core 3.0 concept, the revision team established the following goals:

- Identify alternative modalities for delivery of material that promote efficiency and learning, such as eLearning, other forms of distance learning, blended learning, etc.
- Sharpening the focus of Common Core to build key skills that are critical to practice.

In our effort to achieve these goals, we created content in each of the practice areas into online modules focused on knowledge acquisition; classroom modules focused on skills practice, field activities to enhance the transfer of learning, and 200 Level classroom that provides knowledge and skills reinforcement for each block. It is intended that participants complete the 100 level in each block prior to completing the field activities. After the field activities are completed and new workers have some time in the field to gain experience they will return to the 200 Level classroom to deepen those skills in a practice setting.

One effect of this design decision is that we have several classroom modules with online components which must be taken as prerequisites. This shift in our training system will require coordination among counties and training agencies to ensure that trainees arrive at the classroom with the requisite knowledge to perform skill application activities in the classroom. Although this represents a shift from current expectations, we believe that it will allow for a more effective use of classroom time, a better learning experience for trainees and a better path to transfer of learning.

As the Common Core 3.0 curriculum currently stands, there are 24 identified online modules.

Fifteen online modules were developed specifically to contain knowledge elements for subsequent classroom modules. These are identified as required pre-requisites:

1. After 18
2. Case Closure and After Care Plans
3. Case Planning Basics
4. Child Maltreatment Identification
5. Concurrent Planning Introduction
6. Interviewing
7. Introduction to ICWA
8. Introduction to Trauma-informed Practice
9. Key Issues in Child Welfare: Substance Use Disorders
10. Key Issues in Child Welfare: Intimate Partner Violence
11. Key Issues in Child Welfare: Behavioral Health
12. Legal Procedures
13. Monitoring and Adapting: Supporting Safety, Permanency and Well-being
14. Overview of Assessment Procedures, part 1 and 2
15. Placement

The remaining 4 online modules may be provided as stand-alone modules, but are recommended pre-requisites as they could improve the learning experience for some classroom modules if they were sequenced to occur before the classroom experience. Those are:

16. Child Development
17. Federal and State Laws

18. Purposeful Visitation

19. Respect, Courtesy and Skillful Use of Authority

The three remaining online modules are considered fully stand-alone and can be delivered at any time during new worker training, but they do have connections to other content:

20. Documentation Practice and Report Writing

21. Social Worker Safety

22. Time and Stress Management

There are two 200 level eLearnings to be completed after all 100 level eLearning, classroom and field activities are completed:

23. CWS Outcomes

24. ICWA and Expert Witness

In addition to the required and recommended sequencing for online and classroom modules, there are some recommendations for sequencing of classroom modules. Although none of these is identified as required, it is important (for example) that trainees attending the training on case planning in teams have first taken the class on teaming in general. Similarly, the engagement class will be informed by the trauma-informed practice training, and the monitoring and adapting training will be informed by the service planning training.

The tables below provide information about the required and recommended pre-requisites for each practice block within the curriculum. A final section identifies a recommended sequence for all online and classroom components of Common Core 3.0.

For your reference, Common Core 3.0 modalities are distinguished with the following color scheme:

100 Level eLearning
100 Level Classroom
Field Activities
200 Level Classroom
